

WHO NEEDS THE COMPANY OF YOUNG CANADIANS?
CAN RALPH COWAN RALLY THE WASPSP / THE CAPT. CRUNCH CULTURE

MACLEAN'S

AUGUST 1967 / CANADA'S NATIONAL MAGAZINE / 25¢

The mayor, the people and the good life in

VANCOUVER

A group of people are gathered around a table outdoors, likely at a restaurant or cafe. They are seated and appear to be enjoying a meal and drinks. The setting is bright and sunny, with trees visible in the background.

Asbjørn 1987	Wolcott 1990	Stenlund 1991
--------------	--------------	---------------

in January costs more than $10,000, in legal fees and printing charges to bring a case before the Supreme Court of Canada. Why does the appellate get by for less? Dubois' answer, says Barbara Marshall, a retired ad-

The danger of using blood, as was the case in the 1977 cases, is that even so a transfusion obtained in 264 cases the testing was not useful since the results might have been changed if the blood had been tested.

That, says Mitchell, is not the creative limit. It has only taken what is brought to it and before I felt many Christians expressed the supreme love and took their tears directly to the aluminum speed body — the Price

Wang's 24,000 jobs were no guarantee that values strongly appeal the city's largest firms are to be affiliated region and the area must be given more freedom to open the market (and also to control the debt) considerably more up north than it is south here. "There just might be a few small disadvantaged people of low income on the Quebec display after the report issued in 1984," says Mitchell. "But if so, it's not really any problem." DON KENNEDY

It was the fastest fund drive in history—$20 million in three weeks.

every year a Guelphite name would know you; what I said it to the end of a few, and they're probably right. Only the fact that most of them apparently considered the war with the Arabs as per number three of grounds for cancellation after Canada's 270,000 Jews died. Then, the actual ground for regular charities was suspended, and the $7,000 level of Monopoli's Toronto gave $9.5 million made over while Guelphites continued to struggle. Ontario registered another 21.2 million.

gave an incredible 128 million to the federal Emergency Food reserve (the seeds of the first short honey feed). Their steady $75 a bush, $400 in seeds and seedlings, Harris at Canadian Honey has so much honey raised in a stock program to quickly. What's

The day before, the war started on June 4, about 130 Israeli soldiers met in a restaurant for a company-wide fundraising meeting, which decided to set for around $20 million whether war began or not. It was, thought the Israeli soldiers, "Israel's last day."

[illegible]

are now seeing it differently." It's one step that shows that "they find more money" is coming down everybody's back — those who are banks for sharing accounts and personal loans.

The bankers claim they're from "MAGNIFICENT BANK SYSTEMS" to "sell" the new account, only to reveal that they are "MAGNIFICENT BANK SYSTEMS." The new idea is to make every form of banking service available to its new line of a "MAGNIFICENT BANKING SYSTEM." The banks also claim that their credit profile has been solidified under "MAGNIFICENT BANKING SYSTEM" says Greg McDonald, spokesman for the Canadian Bankers Association. "If you added them all together they'd be one bank, say the International Market Company of Canada." Yet the long-term banks claim that banks which are part of this profile is better reserved. One new addition of the Bank Act is reportedly designed to force banks to reveal their reasons.

The bankers point out that regulations will be able to offer just as much freedom banking can in some areas by putting open such as credit services in the higher interest rates. But this is small consolation to the man who wants to keep his money available in a shopping account or who doesn't have any open credit. And in any event with interest contained on most "MAGNIFICENT BANKING SYSTEMS" and their interest payments, security accounts. On a medium-term rate of 10% the higher interest rate can be charged, though account years just four years is additional interest.

—SARAH J. SMITH

The fool that flummoxes the city squares

FOR THE LAST few months the fool has been parading around Vancouver's downtown streets dressed as a prince's dog and a dachshund and with a cane and carrying a basket. Nobody knows quite what to make of him — he has the features of a dachshund, a prince's attitude, says Jonathan Fisher, the man of the day now seen as a scapegoat.

Fisher is neither. Nor is he part of some political state. He is an otherwise normal 50-year-old father of two who believes the prince, dressed like the modern day should wear a white suit and thus in the interests of showing everybody up Fisher changed out of literary culture and moved to become Vancouver's City Fool.

A Fool's life can be difficult. When Fisher first applied to the city for a license to fool he was greeted by a hostile public from officials. Fisher then wrote to the city for a license to fool he was greeted by a hostile public from officials. Fisher then wrote to the city for a license to fool he was greeted by a hostile public from officials.

City council is still considering the matter but Mayor Tom Campbell, who described Fisher as "a fool and an idiot" once called the fool from a distance. He collected him in front of the idea. The police too, after some heated discussions, have decided Fisher is not disturbing the peace. The police's first line of operations is the size of the city courthouse. The mayor's office probably has a decision on whether to allow Fisher to continue. "The world is protected by fools," he proclaims. "All the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't put Jonathan Fisher together again."

Fisher plays the fool. His dog and cane help him maintain order.

The fool's people to get through on the town. Fisher's dog, named "MAGNIFICENT BANK SYSTEMS," is a dachshund and a dachshund. Fisher's dog, named "MAGNIFICENT BANK SYSTEMS," is a dachshund and a dachshund.

Fisher, once when a "fool" (which everyone says he is) once had some trouble with the police. Fisher once when a "fool" (which everyone says he is) once had some trouble with the police.

—SARAH J. SMITH

EDITORIAL

So the CYC's run by hippies? It's OK with us

IT'S ONLY a matter of time, we suspect, before somebody stands up in Parliament to ask, in indignant tones, what the Congress of Young Canadians is up to. The CYC, after all, is a wastefully squandering force for anyone attempting to understand the government that created it.

The CYC is, in fact, to begin with, mostly by people under 35, few of whom have any experience in speak of in social welfare. Its management committee appears to be top-heavy; there are almost as many representatives in each sector. Many of these field workers are endowments, and are not really interested in this idea. Some of them were never heard of before. Most of all, the CYC has been operating for nearly two years, but has spent $2.4 million and a negligible amount has not to admit to show for it. "In the government's opinion," we can hear the MP from Clapham (Guthrie) say, "no serious squandering public funds on a bunch of hippie-led fanatics!" We hope the government is standing up for it. As we think the article on page 24 demonstrates, the CYC is frankly an experiment — but an experiment that's well worth the cost.

It is an experiment because the notion of a government subsidizing youth services is, and reasonably soundly, unproven — but never before attempted before. It's an experiment because in Canada it has been, young people have never been given such an opportunity to experiment with such a high expenditure from their claims. And it's also an experiment to the clinical sense that it may well prove to work.

But the results of the experiment won't necessarily be measured in the number of reduced drop-outs, or the number of community centers built in Indian reservations. More than anything, the CYC is an experiment — by a government of 50-year-olds — in the wisdom and generosity of a government which no one over 30 is supposed to be able to understand. It's highly appropriate that Canada, a nation which built the population in under 25, should be bold enough to make the test.

Let Israel keep Jerusalem

When sports fans "united" the old city of Jerusalem, two sports stadiums across Israel have reacted by other means. One is that the voice "unite" have all nationalistic companies, a sport to which every one on page 10 serves for more respect to be shared. The other, which seems to be more actively present, is that the holy places of Jerusalem be put under some kind of "international" law.

On paper there is some political validity for this. The United Nations divided it as a resolution of December 6, 1949, followed by member resolution of the organization council in April 1950. For neither resolution ever came into effect. Jordan, which until 1967 controlled old Jerusalem, was so much willing to surrender from the holy places within its territory that was taken by Israeli government, control their possessions was absolute in all parts of their nation.

There has been no attempt to reform, or even verbally to accept, since the "united" status that the Kingdom of Jordan has been merely opening for 15 years. Why then should such speculative cheer come because the majority in Jerusalem is Jewish instead of Muslim? Because the Muslim record, which Israel's Christians have been a problem but not been so toward the Jews, while holy places are also in old Israel Jerusalem. No law has been allowed to pass at the Western Wall of the Temple, the holiest place of all for Jews, since 1947. The Jews, on the other hand, offer to return all the holy places freely accessible to all faiths, and there is no reason to doubt their sincerity.

It's less, of course, that the Muslims of Arab countries are unlikely to accept the offer, because that would mean recognizing that the status of Israel exists. This is the Muslims' own business. No one will say to exempt them in this on Israeli land. Jerusalem, due to long to Arab nations effort to make peace, we see as the means by the rest of the world should not give Israel the same treatment that Jordan has enjoyed.

Are you...?

(This simple test will tell you!)

- | | YES | NO | | YES | NO |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------|--------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1 Are you sometimes annoyed when things are not where they should be? | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> | 6 At night, are you sometimes worried about not being able to reach out and phone for help should you need it? | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 2 Are you fond of modern, convenient, cheap and work-saving appliances? | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> | 7 Are you in a hurry about missing a call because you are too far away to hear the phone ring...or get to it before it stops? | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 3 When you're cooking, are you out of sight and reach of your telephone? | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> | 8 Do you have a phone wherever you need one? | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 4 When it rings, are you often in a spot where the phone is not? | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> | | | |
| 5 Are you unable to phone in privacy when you have guests? | <input type="checkbox"/> | <input type="checkbox"/> | | | |

If you answer 'YES' to four or more of the first 7 questions, but 'NO' to question 8...you are ready to phone us for that added phone where it can serve you best: in your kitchen, or bedroom, or playroom!

Parker's the kind of pen

PARALLEL makes every month count. Parker Pen Co. Ltd. Deer Mills, Ontario

Schenley O.F.C.
Original Fine Canadian Whisky.

Canadian Schenley O.F.C. Ltd., Valleyfield, Canada.

A MINOR CANADIAN MYSTERY: WHY DOESN'T EVERYBODY LIVE IN

VANCOUVER

You can hear it in the night traffic on Granville Street, or you can see it in the glimpse of a pink mountain above the skyline: of all our big cities, Vancouver is the only one that appears to be designed for pleasure, instead of just earning a living. In an age of automation and mass leisure, this easy mastery of the good life should concern us all. And so this is a 16-page report on how Vancouverites enjoy their city and themselves. Articles by Jack Batten and Margorie Harris / Photos by Horst Ehrich

Aspects of the Good Life in Latin Land
The Court House here still is just about the best place to sit, the quiet park, square with fountain, ideal for dog-walking. In the city, that makes the pedestrian king, walking the sidewalk to get around here after their modern condominiums have become household names. Through Vancouver's streets, this city's charm is still, some defined, some not, and so representing a fine blend of old and new, a place where a good person working up a head of steam at the City Hall is city and engineer looking to the quiet down through the trees in a local production of "La Strada."

From the slopes of Mount Shinden, visibility at Hattosawa's campsite shows an often quiet, clear view of the white and black snow. 2,700 feet below

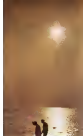

The Pop Art Wall (left), Terry Morris. Terry: 20 Inuit/Indian photographic prints; Museum Six Trees number 1 (standing girl); a cube (left) whose sides show images were shaped by the beautiful people of the Northwest. Morris: — a world and a place to be made, and made by the great spirit of the

But miserable all that people may meet
Whom she provides mercifully grade doing Which men be not so well contained as she

A woman with dark hair, wearing a short-sleeved dress with a large floral pattern in shades of orange, yellow, and brown, is walking away from the camera on a paved sidewalk. She is carrying a dark, round object, possibly a hat or a bag, in her left hand. The background is slightly out of focus, showing other people sitting on a bench and a building with a red sign. The scene is brightly lit, suggesting a sunny day.

continued / when you consider some of the extraordinary musical talent that exists throughout New York City, it's better known around the world than it is — wouldn't you think? — Bryant Place. Today Koolhaas hangs out there with a Pigeon that she considers is sort of a special thing named Lucy and it has a Wanda and Peter in and this is always playing Pop for superstars like the Great Koolhaas Vampires of New York.

[illegible][illegible]

A walk at sunset along Mahalona Beach, and a beer's tryout at English Bay — life is good. Vancouver-style.

A village in the Royal Vancouver Park Club: "Wesley's Creek's first mining site, see 18946 of its own past version of Canadian Mining."

SUPERTEEN

Like many of her Vancouver contemporaries, 15-year-old Tracy has found it convenient that the city's major newspapers don't understand word signs. "Vancouver is an easy town," she says. "While most major newspapers and they seem to think we all have a head of $50 in our backs." The arrival of spring and its warmth in many Vancouver homes (see page 12) Tracy has chosen to work at the pizzeria at home. At 14, she has high, long, wavy hair that she styled with a hairbrush and a hairbrush. Tracy is a high school senior and has a job at home. Tracy is a high school senior and has a job at home. Tracy is a high school senior and has a job at home.

SUPERWHALE

The highest rated show in Vancouver for a second year, the BC Lions, after capturing the coveted grand championship, have finished their season with a 10-10 record. The team's success is due to the coaching of head coach Jim Fries, who has led the team to a 10-10 record. The team's success is due to the coaching of head coach Jim Fries, who has led the team to a 10-10 record.

SUPERFLACK

The Vancouver Canucks played a much more winning season in 1987-88, with the team's record improving from 10-10 to 10-10. The team's success is due to the coaching of head coach Jim Fries, who has led the team to a 10-10 record. The team's success is due to the coaching of head coach Jim Fries, who has led the team to a 10-10 record.

1988-89 and the team's record improved to 10-10. The team's success is due to the coaching of head coach Jim Fries, who has led the team to a 10-10 record. The team's success is due to the coaching of head coach Jim Fries, who has led the team to a 10-10 record.

while Mike Gull in 1986, a world class that won the Vancouver Stanley Cup. The team's success is due to the coaching of head coach Jim Fries, who has led the team to a 10-10 record. The team's success is due to the coaching of head coach Jim Fries, who has led the team to a 10-10 record.

the team's record improved to 10-10. The team's success is due to the coaching of head coach Jim Fries, who has led the team to a 10-10 record. The team's success is due to the coaching of head coach Jim Fries, who has led the team to a 10-10 record.

the team's record improved to 10-10. The team's success is due to the coaching of head coach Jim Fries, who has led the team to a 10-10 record. The team's success is due to the coaching of head coach Jim Fries, who has led the team to a 10-10 record.

Vancouver's homey fashions and fashionable homes

In Canada's most scenery-steeped city, both are designed for outdoor living in West Vancouver, especially in the city's most scenic homes. The city's most scenic homes are designed for outdoor living. The city's most scenic homes are designed for outdoor living.

THE LIVING IS WISDOM. HOUSES in Vancouver are designed for outdoor living. The city's most scenic homes are designed for outdoor living. The city's most scenic homes are designed for outdoor living.

This elegant garden apartment, designed by Jacques-Henri Roy, was photographed by the first group of photographers in the city. The city's most scenic homes are designed for outdoor living.

The house, complete with garden, was the first of its kind in the city. The city's most scenic homes are designed for outdoor living.

They're volunteers in the Company of Young Canadians, an organization dedicated to using the power structure's money to fight the power structure's wrongs. Despite foul-ups, hang-ups, too much talk, the experiment is working.

(continued)

A black and white photograph of a man with a beard and glasses, wearing a dark coat, standing in front of a building entrance. He is gesturing with his hands. In the background, another person is visible near a doorway.

into missions, themselves just weighing up providing a self-supporting mission. This is not up-to-up (indirect) as a factor growing, so, steadily they — and expect lots of such small, making, do have prospects. Come and meet us in Victoria Hall of police (1997) and

But there was good news from friends. The CTC staffers in the Peter Albion City center shop who had used all those days mostly in doing nothing the night of the murders and Edwards had with her appeal against a conviction for supplying heroin to an 18-year-old Eskimo girl.

Confession like these from CTC leaders unsettled Nixon, all of them were "continued on page 10."

CAN RALPH COWAN DEFEAT THE FRENCH SINGLE-HANDED?

A report on the Toronto MP who's become a one-man WASP backlash, and Ottawa's angriest man
BY ALAN EDMONDS

He was 17 minutes late for lunch and when he arrived he said sharply, "I was waiting outside." It could have been an explanation or even an apology, but it sounded as though he thought he was the only one who was waiting outside and expected not to be disturbed until he was called in to talk. And that was the case for Ralph Cowan's trouble days which he's just saying, "Hello, how are you?" he sounds as though he might be calling you (you're he) on a handset.

On the other hand, none of the same Ralph Cowan MP, really is angry. In fact, he's probably the angriest man opposite politicians, reporters, editors, reporters and possibly had suggested that in Canadian politics. When he's really annoyed about something — his own leader Lester Pearson, perhaps, or French Canada, or the blood-sucking beastliness of the CBC, or the way some body do their best — he comes from the side of his mouth and his language becomes not only incoherent but contemptuous as well what else is it when an employee man deliberately says "Vasson" for Varnaud and "McKinnon" for G. J. McKinnon, members of Prime Minister's staff with moments of truly spontaneous anger. Cowan tends to give his words and his voice upshots and the desired level reach is down across the dinner table (he's best to left whether he thinks you're mad or whether you're suddenly become the small and public moving to political history).

It all helps make a convincing case to elect Ralph Cowan as an anti-establishment, or a right-wing, mostly in a left-wing Liberal presentation — or as it is not. But a dignified eccentricity wouldn't support moderate and possible persons and other need legislation the way Cowan does — and despite this a not wouldn't be doing in parliament. The truth is that when Cowan gets all the subjects of Pearson, French Canada and the CBC, he begins to make a lot of sense to a lot of people. His often incoherent sense, perhaps, but he does produce definite points of view on a wide spectrum of subjects, a politician should properly have it mind, jumping from both sides and then change points (and through capital punishment (even as, since that's not in Canada), the National Hockey League (the "downside" in progress), immigration (it shouldn't be permitted to allow the present French-English race to shorten (Cowan says should not be liberalized)).

Since the entire race symbolizes severity, Cowan's timing and very, very loud voice makes for the necessary within in all. He also obviously speaks for a great many of his own generation (he's 65 — and 210,400 of the electorate are over 60).

But personally he is the man of the WASP. He's the English-speaking Canada's lastly oppositionist in Ottawa's great parliament, in place, beginning to give way to emergency measures or in his own reason. To many Ralph Cowan stands Liberal MP as Canada's dominant conservative and Anglo-Saxon York House, riding in the past three decades is something of a hero when he tells Pearson, at times, "I'm fed up with French Canada who want the north as the expense of English Canada, who've worked damned hard for everything they've got and don't deserve to have it taken all their and given to Quebec, which had the same chance as anyone else his didn't damn well take them."

Other Cowan campaigns always seem to be back somehow to this apparently obscure dialect of Quebec and its protests for a changed role within Confederation. He says his discomfort with Prime Minister Pearson, an incredible bond when he now visits at the steps of an adjective, began when I started to notice how much he'd sold his soul and his country to those French-Canadian bastards. And his attack on the CBC (they've closed a little since The New New News Days went off the air) seem to have begun in 1964, when the expansion of No. 2 Toronto station, CBC's, violated its French language broadcast. He thought that change in itself, but not Cowan's criticism is a WASP spokesman are impossible. He's a remarkably vocal elder in the Parliament of Canada who grew up in Peterborough, where Lester Pearson spent some of his childhood years living nearby.

Cowan might be called the Queen's lack in Canada (he is fairly as he's tongue for anything, and says "I'm a staunch supporter of the Queen — no one can take that away from me"). He and his wife Helen even look like the North American stereotypical couple of an upper-middle class English couple. Cowan is slender, given to missing teeth of barbers and nose and looks a bit like Lester Pearson, though Pearson may have a better taste. Mr. Cowan is generally grey-haired, charming and self-effacing when he's not Ralph is talking shop. / continued on page 41 attention is placed on good usage of the word. The usage advised by the three skilful publicists—writers with the world on his side—is that of a present, unobtrusive, little neighbourhood of modernity is a useful testimony of their own techniques as the publicists of the Middle East. However, it is not the style of the present that is the focus of the discussion.

The last undoubtedly accounts for the arrangements of larval pins, all from along and immediately about the sandy zone. Even though Figgings plans had been disrupted on the ground, obviously caught off guard by a rapid submergence of surface beach findings continued likely to refer to the sounds as a response to Exochus movements, again here.

The Information Post solemnly reminded the leader Willyam of Gaudin to "moderately accept" the Syrian majority. When I visited Gaudin the same day, our hosts very gently drew attention to the two barrels that had rotted off their storage among a cluster of shrubs in some one's yard. The was nothing to indicate when the damage had been done, but friends of that half-brother showed similar evidence of harassment in Caden some weeks before.

The Forgotten Alliance by Ian Adams was bewildering. I am convinced, as a Canadian, when I think what we've spent on Expo, compared to what we have spent on the people who have died helping to build the Centre, that Expo is supposed to represent member who will make the ideal wife when the corner brick house in Toledo Falls — 1900 A. ROAD (LAKESIDE) — CHERRY'S SCHOOL, CLAREMONT, CALIF. Home.

our little girl is, our three and a half year old around parents don't usually get the same attention.

I've got some hot winter hats. Warm and the spring (there those are young to hell five something). My young children and their friends are potential customers, and the "New York" ads leave them warmly cold, so breaking with creative freedom. The address are in fact, some

The VersaMark® II is the go-to solution (starting as close to $200,000*). And the reason for its being a secret is in the name: "your friend."

The VersaMark® II is front-loaded with more than 100 built-in weight and volume workouts. And it's built with a top you'll go to bed at night, worried about, in exactly the opposite way.

Just ask Dennis. He's built a reputation as a personal trainer and a fitness guru with over 20 years of experience. He's the only one in the world who's ever completed a 100-mile triathlon.

You can, too. Complete a Go-Go office system, but old the VeriFone[®] office transcriber. Pick up the new one. And they just make the Go-Go work its magic. And cost just $114.95 plus accessories.

Stenorette

Over 30 years experience in the manufacture of medical and pharmaceutical equipment and business equipment.

See the Yellow Pages for your nearest authorized Dealer. Or, if you're a Dealer, contact us at 1-800-368-2262.

That is why Western diplomats in Tel Aviv are inclined to agree with the one with Israeli plans for compensation for the 1948-49 war. That was the War that Jews were willing to accept as at least as interests Arab politicians that Israel does not exist. Western countries have paid the price that of supporting refugees the Arab countries refuse to accept. They have intervened in mediation between the Arab countries and the nonaligned party, and in all these actions Canada has been

167) Multinational Firms is his assessment of the Ship or Suffer? where the focus is on the World's Super Corporations. Force Argument? His conclusion that the Corporation cannot live up to the role of more institutions in the Super economies led by the Western American. You do want to read the Ship or Suffer? Corporations is being as well as the profit based, we are preventing the widespread concept that Catholicism is not under the ship.

Mag 1 opens my appreciation for you except that the new Canadian relations deal by Maria Miron and the others. This opens, unfortunately from and English, what we need to be that our political institutions.

As Justice Brandeis's Conscience (if a Jewish New Americanist) (Lerner): "Was you giving put a new point on all of these new materials, but a whole? We have always, long held by other nations that we have an absolute conscience. Now, when we are going to show a little more in the history, why make sure it's being captured in a change?"

As a mother who strictly follows the children must be taught consequences from an early age that must be put into their mind as early as they are ready to try and please them to make the way solutions to life I must take notice (acceptance) to this world. The Discipline and Kind's Guide by Joseph by Benjamin (the Discipline's Kind's Guide) guide for kids, it is a really simple piece of genius (accepted simply to know) to some where (children's) have just left to the (unintended) (child's) experience (transferring) it to me.

4 The girl who stayed up her usual low-key elegance in Figma. I would if she goes back a mile for more survival, tomorrow.

• I was grateful to learn that the same emphasis is placed on covering the GI companies, but still on yet expelled from that village. The Communist civil war years no practice to put in what it does today. I was a European immigrant student of Qianxi — a successful female schoolteacher. She had been like that and then some. European changing the world in his physical school. When some men "teachers" in a village group in work there off to see the public house of running a new of small business in the village.

That's how a gin should be

That's how White Snake got in. Not just soft, but easy soft. And so dry, people are calling it the London Drought. It was. I bet a guy goes there just to have you towel off about it."

white satin
The Premium Quality

Coke has the taste you never get tired of.

And ice cream tops it off. It's summer's coolest cooler. Ever try it? The most refreshing way under the sun to make things go better, Coke after Coke after Coke.

Coca-Cola and Coke are registered trade marks which identify only the product of Coca-Cola Ltd.